

L'OUBLIÉE

- VIN DE FRANCE

The story of L'Oubliée began in the 2000s, when my parents stumbled upon a small plot of land, surrounded by forest and bordering several prestigious Bordeaux appellations. They immediately recognized the untapped potential of this ecosystem, with its rich biodiversity and fertile soil.

This neglected spot was, however, brimming with vitality and offered a terroir well-suited to the impending climate changes: it would mark the beginning of fine wines with vibrant fruit.

Let's return to the present. Since a story is never written without encounters, it was with the passionate guidance of sommelier Anthony Ollivier, our "Marchand de Soif," that we were able to restore "L'Oubliée" to its former glory.

« Deep color. An intense nose of red fruits, with floral and Mediterranean notes. The supple palate, with relatively fine tannins, makes it very drinkable even in its youth. »
